'HAND HYGIENE E-LEARNING' Program

The coronavirus disease (COVID-19) has impacted the world in many ways with huge challenges especially for the healthcare workers.

With Hand Hygiene being the fundamental and most essential practice of all, Aesculap Academy – a B. Braun brand wishes to address this demand by offering a free e-learning training module on Hand Hygiene. The training provides a comprehensive content on why constant hygiene of hands is important to save lives and the spread of contagious diseases can be prevented. It also covers how viruses can be transferred and which actions protect the healthcare workers and patients effectively.

In conjunction with the World Hand Hygiene Day on 5th May 2020 and considering the current situation, this training that usually offered at a fee of Euro 60 will now be free of charge from April to June 2020, a duration of 3 months, with unlimited number of participants. The module is available in English, Spanish and German.
